Hello there! I'm Anurag R Nambiar, a third year design student pursuing my Bachelor's in Industrial Design at the Institute of Design, Nirma University.

My passion lies in crafting experiences, not just in the objects themselves, weaving a path between the user and the product to create a much deeper connection between the two. My design philosophy is one of holistic harmony where form and function intertwine in a delicate patchwork, the usability never overshadowed by the aesthetics, and technical
